

Activities abound in the area, with over 3 miles of our own excellent trout fishing on the River Glass, salmon rods can be arranged and we are happy to organise permits.

The area is world famous for deer stalking and Kerrow provides excellent accommodation, with all the extras to make a stalking break memorable. Golf is never far away in Scotland and there are many courses within an easy drive - five within 30 minutes!

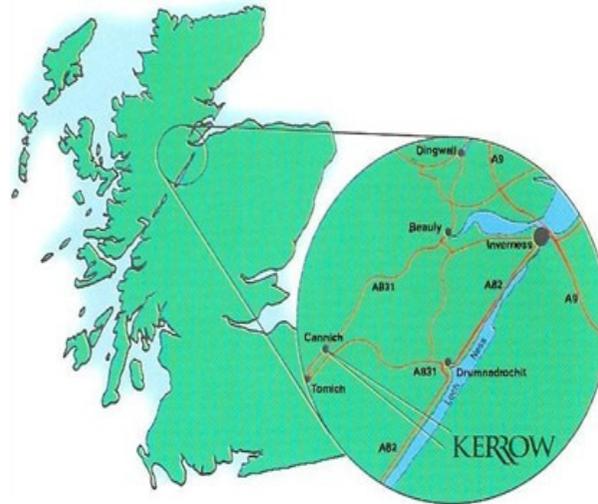

The nearby Glens of Affric, Cannich and Strathfarrar provide outstanding hillwalking, as well as being renowned for their stunning natural beauty and abundance of wildlife. The walks range from easy to the more testing Munros.

Mountain bikes can be hired locally and pony-trekking is available at the nearby hamlet of Cougie. Visitors wishing to explore this part of Scotland will find many interesting and easy day trips around the area.

Visiting 'Nessie' at Drumnadrochit is a must. Visits to Inverness, the Battlefield at Culloden, the Castles and Priors of Moray and Nairn make enjoyable day-trips; whilst the rugged west coast is only ninety minutes away. Please ask for details.

How to get here

Take A82 from Inverness (signposted Fort William) along Loch Ness to Drumnadrochit. Turn right at the Loch Ness Monster Exhibition onto A831 through Glenurquhart towards Cannich. After about 12 miles and coming down a long hill turn left onto a single track road towards Tomich; after a mile go right on the driveway to Kerrow House.

Kerrow House is a traditional Georgian hunting lodge that dates from around 1770 and was built for the Chisholm family. It was at one time home to the Highland author Neil Gunn. It is set in 12 acres of woodland on the banks of the River Glass.

It is an ideal base for touring and enjoying some of Scotland's finest scenery, whilst our stylish informality makes it perfect for a relaxing break.

All properties have been refurbished and up-graded recently to ensure the highest quality of holiday accommodation. The self-catering properties and Bed & Breakfast rooms in Kerrow House are available throughout the year, being well insulated and heated for guests' comfort.

The self-catering properties are fully equipped, all have colour TV, a modern kitchen with microwave, and a bathroom with bath and shower. There is a central laundry by the main house.

Riverside Cottage has a spacious open-plan living room/kitchen with a woodburning stove to supplement the inclusive central heating, and a patio overlooking the river.

There is a double and a twin bedroom and a modern bathroom.

Sleeps 4.

Fisherman's Cottage is a large one-bedroom cottage of great charm and comfort. There is a spacious, beautifully decorated living room with a wood-burning stove which augments the inclusive central heating, and an integral kitchen. Next to the super king-sized bedroom is a bathroom.
